

jInternship Terms & Conditions:

The Terms and Conditions detailed on this document pertain only to jInternship sessions run in Israel. Terms and Conditions for each US-based affiliate program are available from the Program Directors of each individual US-based jInternship program.

See below for details on what the program costs include and exclude:

Program Costs Program Deposit Fee 2 Month Summer/Winter Onward Israel jInternship Programs (airfare not included) North Americans: $350* Europe: $850* South Africa: $850* South America: $350* w/$500 flight stipend 4 Month MASA jInternship Fall/Spring Programs (airfare not included) $5000* before Olami and MASA Grants (which range from $1000 - $5000) 2 Month Summer/Winter jInternship Programs for participants who have already done an Onward Israel Program, or, are not eligible for Olami Grant $350* + $2000 * Program Costs do not include airfare. Program Costs assumes participants are eligible for a large grant from both the Onward Israel and Olami organizations.

Rules governing Onward Israel grant eligibility can be found here.

Please note that previous participation in an Onward Israel or MASA program (or any 4 month consecutive stay in Israel) likely will render an applicant ineligible for Onward Israel and Masa funding. The Olami organization determines Jewish participant's grant eligibility based upon multiple factors - but generally is not applicable to participants who graduated from Orthodox Jewish Day Schools, Yeshivot, or Bais Yaakov Schools. Additionally, each jInternship provider will interview each applicant once they have paid their deposit, and the provider retains the right to accept/reject candidates based upon their own criterion. In the event a participant is not accepted into their desired jInternship program, they will be offered a refund of their program deposit fee.

 Participants will automatically be processed for a $1500 Olami grant if eligible, and participants will need to apply to MASA for a scholarship on their own. Program Director will send participants the MASA application link. Program prices are fixed in US Dollars and subject to Masa, Onward Israel and Olami grant eligibility (see above for the relevant guidelines for grant eligibility). The price for 2 month Onward Israel jInternship programs includes program tuition, housing, 3 meals a day (excluding meals purchased by participants who tour during free time), local transportation to/from one's internship, medical insurance (which does not cover pre-existing conditions), fees for all scheduled program touring, and all fees for scheduled educational courses. Participants who have special food requirements should prepare in advance that not all meals may meet their standards. Subsequently, participants should prepare to bring additional funds to cover the costs of special food needs. Airfare to and from Israel is not included in the program costs. Participants must arrange their own airfare. Participants who plan to do an Olami organization funded trip immediately preceding their jInternship program should inquire with their jInternship Program Director as to whether they retain eligibility for the full Olami grant for their jInternship program. Various ineligibility scenarios could result in additional fees of up to $2000 when participants join a jInternship session immediately before/after another Olami-sponsored trip to Israel.

Participants participating in Academy of Life Training (ALT) jInternship programs must arrive by the start date and leave no earlier than the end date of the program. Participants who are approved to arrive later than the start date or leave earlier than the end date will need to pay a fee of $60/day for each day missed to cover the reduced funding granted by the MASA organization.

4 Month MASA programs have varied pricing structures and require consultation with the Program Director. Note, the cost of any visas which may be required are not included in the program tuition. Cancellation Policy:

$350 Program Deposit Fee – required before internship placement. This fee is only refundable in any of the following scenarios: a participant was not placed in any of their top 4 internship choices, the Program Director did not accept the participant into the program, the participant notifies (in writing) jInternship of their desire to withdraw from the program within 72 hours of the payment of their deposit. All other reasons for requesting return of the program deposit unfortunately cannot be met.

Security Deposit:

Some jInternship programs require a $150 security deposit to be paid in cash upon arrival to the program. This deposit is subject to the specific terms and conditions of each program. Generally speaking, participants that do no damage to their apartment/dorm room, attend all classes, and arrive/leave on time will have their security deposit returned at the end of the program.

Program Participation Requirements:

- Arrive on time and Leave at the end... All jInternship programs require participants to arrive for the first day of the program and leave no earlier than the last day of the program. Participants who cannot arrive on the first day of the program, or cannot stay until the last day of the program may lose full or partial grant eligibility, and must get explicit permission from their jInternship Program Director before booking their flight.
- Interview with and be accepted by Program Director. Acceptance into a jInternship program is dependent upon the participant's selected jInternship provider accepting the applicant into their program. Each jInternship provider has a Program Director responsible for interviewing all participants. Program Directors have sole discretion to accept or reject candidates based upon their program's specific acceptance criterion. Please note - payment of the program deposit fee does not guarantee acceptance into a jInternship program.
- Lack of timely submission of medical forms, waivers, terms of agreement Participants are required to submit various forms and waivers in advance of the program. It is imperative that these forms be submitted in a timely fashion. The deadline for submission is 4 weeks before the first day of the program. Participants will not be permitted to join the program if any of their forms are outstanding on the first day of the program. There is a $50 penalty for each week that the forms are not submitted, starting from four weeks before the start date of the program for participants who were accepted into the program at least 6 weeks before the start date of their program. Students who are accepted onto the program less than 6 weeks before their program's start date will be required to submit all forms within 2 weeks of their acceptance.

- Accurate Application Information: Any participant who has been untruthful on their application or misrepresented themselves in any way can be dismissed from the program without advance notice. Program fees or deposits will not be returned in such an event.
- Breaking Program Rules: Each jInternship Provider has their own set of Program Rules which will be communicated to all accepted participants and agreed upon before joining the program. Any participant who violates their program's Program Rules is subject to being dismissed from the program without their program fees or deposits being returned, and will be responsible for their housing or airfare fees should they leave the country early.
- Additional Rules: Any applicant who pays the program deposit fee, and jInternship staff subsequently introduces the applicant to a potential internship host company in Israel, in the event that the applicant withdraws from their jInternship program - they are prohibited from using the internship that was established by jInternship. Said host company will be notified of this rule in such an instance.
